Perfect Pasta's History

Perfect Pasta is a first-generation family-owned business that was founded over 35 years ago in the city of Chicago, IL. Prior to its inception, owner Luigi Bucaro had spent the better part of two decades learning American culture and making friends in the food industry. He immigrated to the United States in the late 1960s from Italy, and shortly after landing in New York, made his way to the Windy City.

He began his working career bagging groceries at a local supermarket, and from there went on to eventually open his own restaurant. During his time as a restaurateur, he aimed to not only please his customers' palates, but also provide entertainment to keep things new and exciting. He purchased a vintage pasta machine and began making pasta in the middle of the restaurant to entertain guests. Popularity of this spectacle grew and before he knew it, Perfect Pasta was founded, with Luigi's pasta being distributed to restaurants and grocery stores in Chicagoland.

Years later, Perfect Pasta is a prominent and versatile manufacturer of frozen filled pastas, fully prepared entrees, and specialty food products that are distributed across the foodservice, grocery, and travel industries both domestically and internationally.

Our Mission and Commitment

Our mission is simple: to unite people through great food. We cherish the bonds we form with one another & know that great conversation can be had, great memories can be made, and great company can be enjoyed by having a meal together.

Achieving this mission means we stay true to our authentic roots and values, and we don't cut corners. We're committed entirely to crafting the highest quality products and specialty items by using only the best premium ingredients, following tried and true manufacturing processes, supporting & empowering our employees internally, and servicing our customers' needs completely while achieving & maintaining the highest levels of food safety.

As a family-owned business that employs generations of family workers, our focus is people first.

Facilities & Certifications

We operate multiple owned & vertically integrated production and logistics facilities in the suburbs of Chicago, IL, all within one mile from each other. Our teams are always receiving continuing education, always learning, and always forging a path of excellence in all we do every day.

All our facilities are FDA registered, USDA inspected, and SQF certified so you can be confident working with a knowledgeable, competent partner that you can trust with your business and its needs.
